The manuscript contains the first part of the book as well as notes. It was written in the 12th/13th century and bears a statement of ownership and endowment in the name of Salaymān b. Sayf, who offered the reward for the pious act to his mother Qwāyat bint al-Shaykh Muhammad b. 'Abd al-Wahhāb, and appointed... as trustee of the endowment, to be followed by his brothers and their children. After that, if there did not remain a single student of religion among them, responsibility for the endowment is to be delegated to his maternal uncles, the descendants of the Shaykh. The endowment was witnessed by 'Uthmān and... 'Abd Allāh b. Salaymān, 'Abd al-Wahhāb, and... 'Abd al-'Azīz b. 'Abd al-Kātīb... witnessed and written by 'Alī b. al-Shaykh Muhammad b. 'Abd al-Wahhāb.
The end of the manuscript is missing and the remaining portion contains lacunae and bears notes. A statement at the beginning reads, “Allah has given this noble book to Ibrahim b. Rashid, who copied it for himself from (an original) in the handwriting of the author, Shaykh Sulayman b. `Abd Allah, who wrote the text from the handwriting of (the original) compiler, Shaykh Muhammad b. ’Abd al-Wahhab in 1231/1816. This is a correct copy, which has been collated is the presence of the Shaykh himself by being read to him, and praise be to Allah, Lord of the Universe.”
The manuscript contains a statement of ownership which has been effaced, and another in the name of Imam Faysal b. Turki in addition to a statement of endowment, dated AH 1344/1926.
