ORIENTAL STUDIES

The range of subjects in this series will be as wide as the title suggests, but it is hoped to pay special attention to Islamic Philosophy, Ismailism and the History and Literature of Muslim Spain—fields of study for which no special facilities exist in this country.

The editors are S. M. Stern, Fellow of All Soul's College, Oxford and R. Walzer, Reader in Arabic and Greek Philosophy and Fellow of St Catherine's College, Oxford.

ISLAMIC LANDS

This new volume of the Series ORIENTAL STUDIES consists of 10 essays by prominent scholars from many different countries, all concerned with the history of painting in Islamic lands. The material includes illuminated and illustrated manuscripts like the Top Kapu Saray manuscript of the Persian Kalila wa-Dimna; a manuscript from the Library of the Ghaznavid Amir, 'Abd al-Rahid; Bindings; Album Paintings; Painted Enamels and others.

The articles reveal the great variety of the styles of paintings in the Islamic world, throwing new light on their inter-relation, such as the part played by the School of Shiraz in the formation of the Indian style, the influence of Persia on Turkish painting and the origin of the iconography of the Persian national epics; they also intend to show modern methods of approach in this field.

The book, which is dedicated to Basil Gray, will appeal to all those interested in the history of Islamic art and literature in the widest sense, including students of social and political history.
