ADDITIONS

P. 11. After para. on Dates, add:

The name of the Shah, with numerous high sounding titles, appears on the reverse of the coins of the Safavids during the first century of their rule. The formula

بَيْنَاءِ مَا وَلَدَتْهُ وَلَدَتْهُ يَوْمَ الْقِيَامَةِ was adopted after the deposition of Muhammad Khudabanda (1587), but the practice of using for the reverse a distich embodying the name of the sovereign which was introduced by Isma'il II (1598-1629) was continued by his successors of the Safavid and Afshar dynasties. The Afshars took the title of the Sultan and the Qajar that of the Sultan and also that of the Sultan of the Sultan. Distichs on the royal seals were only discontinued by the Pahlavi rulers.

P. 92. Insert between lines 8 and 9:
